Subject: Offer Trust Initiative Becomes Ethical Legacies Educational Foundation

With great pride we announce that Offer Trust is now formally : "Ethical Legacies" : An Educational Foundation. With the anticipated approval of a 501c3 Non-Profit status, Ethical Legacies will be able to impact local and global communities now more than ever through our expanded resources.

Since the launch of the Offer Trust Initiative in 2015, our goals of bringing free and quality educational materials to global learning communities interested in the ethical practices of small or family businesses have never wavered - and today we are proud to announce the expansion of that vision.

Ethical Legacies Foundation exists to provide a support network with educational resources for an interactive community interested in endorsing the advancement of ethical business principles and social action. We promote trust, transparency, accountability, sustainability, and responsibility within the scope of small or family-run business communities.

Ethical Legacies features an online website of education resources, as well as community projects which champion ethical practices. Our topics of expertise include corporate social responsibility, environmentalism, and legacy development for fostering a long term positive impact on business, society, and earth.

Our Foundation organizes community events for the purpose of fostering education, altruism, environmentally friendly practices, and legacy development.
